Over the past year, WRS collaborated with global wildlife institutions to save 77 threatened species. We welcomed over 800 babies, including three penguin chicks, two manatee calves, a jaguar cub and a giant anteater baby.

Our team of in-house experts care for over 16,000 animals across 956 species in total, 25% of which are threatened in the wild.

These conservation efforts are only possible with financial support. Your support can make a difference in the preservation of wildlife, your contribution ensures that future generations get to experience the wonder of nature and wildlife.

- 👉 Routine medical health and nutrition checks
- 👉 Enrichment programmes to improve overall welfare of animals in captivity
- 👉 Build local and regional research and conservation capacity
- 👉 Rehabilitate rescued animals
- 👉 Raise awareness of plight of animal endangerment
