

ART IN THE CITY: GARDENS BY THE BAY ART TRAIL

1 Trash-sure

Artist: Bordalo II
Location: SG50 Lattice

This magnificent Sumatran Tiger spans 10m long and 7m tall, made entirely from trash collected across Singapore. Created for Trash-Sure campaign, it calls attention to mounting waste from excessive consumption. The sculpture raises awareness of Earth's precious resources and highlights the critically endangered Sumatran tiger's plight from deforestation and poaching.

2 Planet

Artist: Marc Quinn
Location: Near The Meadow

A hefty seven tons, this impressive bronze sculpture is 9m long and 3m tall, portraying an oversized reproduction of the artist's son, Lucas as a baby. The sculpture's weight is masterfully balanced on the infant's right hand, creating a floating illusion.

3 Happy Life

Artist: Manolo Valdés
Location: The Meadow

Influenced by historical masterpieces, Spanish artist Manolo Valdés creates large works where lighting and colours express tactility. In Happy Life, image and matter fuse in a body wandering between Pop Art and material art, with vivid colours and geometric shapes inviting everyone to ponder simple meanings of joy.

4 Perpetual Blooms

Artist: Han Sai Por
Location: Serene Garden

This collection of 12 stainless steel sculptures by Cultural Medallion recipient Han Sai Por, symbolises perpetual bloom at Gardens by the Bay. Standing elegantly over water (1.5-3m tall), the highly polished steel reflects sky and the verdant surroundings. The two dragonflies portray the harmony of flora-fauna and healthy ecosystems of the Gardens.

5 Onward Ahead

Artist: Chong Fah Cheong
Location: Active Garden and PropNex Family Zone

Created by Cultural Medallion recipient Chong Fah Cheong, a pioneer sculptor known for public works capturing Singapore's heritage and community life, this sculpture was commissioned for the nation's 60th year of independence. It celebrates harmony across race and religion, inspiring Singaporeans to forge ahead in unity and prosperity.

6 Floral Clock

Location: Floral Clock

This seven-metre-wide Floral Clock draws inspiration from the signature characteristics of Audemars Piguet's Royal Oak collection and fuses traditional and contemporary landscaping elements in its design. Featuring tropical plants with coloured foliage and flowers, its plant palette will be refreshed regularly for the public to enjoy.
